Formerly known as Orange County Kabini, Evolve Back is one of India's best wildlife and jungle eco-lodges. It sits right on the edge of Nagahole National Park, surrounded by the Kabini River.

The resort features 28 spacious huts; the design inspired by local tribal villages. The huts either have a private plunge pool or an outdoor Jacuzzi. Their main eco features include reverse osmosis water filtering in every room to eliminate reliance on plastic bottled water and state-of-the-art sewage treatment plant to reduce impact on nature. They also use windmills to generate electricity. How cool is that?
